

Marriage Matters

Examining the Biblical roots of civilization's most significant institution

FOUR WEDDINGS, PART ONE

Eden and Sinai

I. Introduction

- A. When the Supreme Court declared in June 2015 that same-sex marriage is a fundamental right guaranteed by the Constitution, our nation suddenly woke to the reality that, after centuries on unanimity<sup>15</sup>, we are no longer able to define the most _____ of all human institutions. "If the foundations are destroyed, what can the righteous do?" (Ps. 11:3).
- B. How did this happen? Numerous cultural changes have been working together to undermine the traditional understanding of marriage:
1. The _____ (1960s and 70s) separated sex from marriage.
  2. Widespread use of _____ separated sex from pregnancy.
  3. The legalization of _____ (1973) made pregnancy a private matter between a woman and fetus.
  4. The proliferation of _____.
  5. _____: couples choosing to live together without marriage.
  6. The growing acceptance of _____.<sup>16</sup>
  7. The growing confusion over _____ identity: Bruce Jenner, bathroom laws, etc. How many letters are needed to say LGBTQQIAA (Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, Queer, Questioning, Intersex, Asexual, Allies)?
  8. The mixed signals given by the _____.
- C. But does it really matter? Even among evangelicals, many wonder what all the hullabaloo is about. Why get so worked up? Why not just agree to disagree and move on? And yet this issue is different. It goes to the roots of how we understand _____, our _____, our _____, our _____, and our _____! Speaking of marriage, G. K. Chesterton famously warned that one should never tear down a fence until he learns why it was put there in the first place!<sup>17</sup>
- D. This study has a simple but ambitious purpose: to understand what _____ says about marriage. We begin by examining four marriages highlighted in the Bible, noting especially how these weddings _____ the entire narrative of the history of salvation.

II. Eden: The Garden Variety of Marriage (Genesis 1:26–28; 2:18–25)

Just as it is hard to assemble a jigsaw puzzle without the picture on the box top, so it is hard to make sense of marriage with the original _____! Genesis 1–2

<sup>15</sup> My American Heritage Dictionary (1971) says simply that marriage is "the state of being husband and wife."

<sup>17</sup> "People do not know what they are doing; because they do not know what they are undoing." From "The Drift from Domesticity," In Defense of Sanity: The Best Essays of G. K. Chesterton (San Francisco: Ignatius Press, 2011), 173–82.

tells us the divine intention for the home. Note it well: according to the Bible, human history both _____ and _____ with a wedding!

A. Plato and Marriage

To better understand what a radical statement Genesis 1–2 is about human marriage, it is helpful to look at what is perhaps the most influential text in western culture on love: The Symposium by Plato<sup>18</sup>. Socrates and his friends gather for a dinner party where each guest is invited to give a speech in praise of love (eros). As the speakers begin to get drunk, their oratory eventually culminates in praising _____ love as the highest form of love. The love between a man and a woman, when mentioned at all, “is spoken of as altogether inferior, a purely physical impulse whose sole object is the procreation of children” (from “Introduction,” 12).

The speech by Aristophanes describes the _____ of humans and explains why they are the way they are. Originally, humans were of three kinds: male, female, and hermaphrodite. They were round in shape, with 4 legs, 4 arms, 2 faces, and 2 sets of sexual organs. When these creatures offended the gods, Zeus cut them in half for punishment. So today, we are all seeking our other, _____. We want to be whole again. Those who are halves of an original hermaphrodite tend to be persons who are promiscuous (adulterers, prostitutes, etc.). Those who are from an original female seek other women (lesbians), and those from an original male seek other men (homosexuals). “When they grow to be men, they become lovers of boys...” (63).

Love (eros) is simply the name for the desire and pursuit of the whole... The way to happiness for our race lies in fulfilling the behests of love (eros), and in each finding for himself the mate who properly belongs to him.... (64–65)

Note: Though most today have little knowledge of Plato’s description of love, it is obvious that his teaching continues to have a huge influence on our culture:

1. Treating traditional marriage _____—pragmatically (to produce children).
2. Sexual _____ and gender _____.
3. Defining love as the satisfaction of _____.

B. Read Genesis 1:26–28; 2:18–25.

1. Man (mankind) is distinct from the _____: image of God, breath of life, dominion over nature, speech, free moral agent, stands erect, wears clothing (after Gen. 3), etc. Thus marriage is more than animal mating.
2. The original marriage is _____ and _____; gender distinction is fundamental to understanding marriage. The model seems to rule out polygamy, homosexuality, bestiality, etc.
3. The first commandment (“Be fruitful and multiply...”) is a command to be sexually intimate and _____. Intimacy means fertility. Two become one; then, one becomes three.
4. Why is it “not good” for the man to be alone (2:18)? Because alone, Adam cannot:
  - Obey the first commandment to _____.
  - Reflect the image of the _____ who made him.

---

5. “Leave and cleave...” Leaving _____ is necessary to make marriage work. Thus marriage trumps every other human relationship.
  6. Sin (Gen. 3) certainly _____ marriage, but it did not destroy the model.
- C. Marriage in Eden helps us to understand the basics about marriage.
1. Marriage is the only human institution in Eden. There is no _____ and not even a _____. Thus, marriage is the most important of all human institutions!
  2. Marriage is defined as the _____ of one woman and one man. Two become one. It is a union of differences, just as is the Trinity.
  3. Marriage has a three-fold purpose:
    - a. Intimate _____.
    - b. _____—children.
    - c. To reflect the _____.

III. Sinai: A Covenant of Love (Exodus 19–24)

Though Mount Sinai has negative associations for many (legalistic obligations, threatening deity, etc.), a closer look reveals what most people have missed entirely: _____! This was the moment when God and Israel entered into a _____ relationship of love. The prophets understood this reality and preached it often (Isa. 62:4–5; Jer. 2:2; 31:31–32; Hosea 1:2; etc.). To worship an idol was to be guilty of spiritual adultery.

- A. Read Exodus 19:1–8, 16–20; 20:1ff.; 24:3–11; 25:1–9; 32:1–6; 34:5–7; 40:34.

The Covenant Is Established (Exodus 19–24)			The Tabernacle Is Constructed (Exodus 25–40)
Preparation (19)	Stipulations: The Law (20–23)	Ratification: Vows & Ceremonies (24)	The Plan Is Given (25–31)	The Golden Calf (32–34)	The Plan Is Carried Out (35–40)

1. Notice that Sinai is not in _____. The covenant comes after redemption. Keeping the law is the result of salvation, never the cause! We obey God’s law not in order to be saved but because we already are!
2. Just as creation began with a wedding, so does _____. From among all the nations on the earth, God _____ Israel, rescued her from bondage, and brought her “on eagles’ wings” to himself so that she could be his “treasured possession” (Ex. 19:4–6; John 15:16). This is a love story!
3. The heart of the covenant is expressed in solemn promises: God makes _____ to Israel (Ex. 23:20–33; etc.) and Israel makes vows to God (19:8; 24:3, 7).
4. Other elements of the covenant-making ceremony at Sinai are carried over into traditional wedding ceremonies today: _____ music (19:16, 19), a reception (24:9–11), _____ and signs (31:12–17), and fear and trembling (20:18–21).
5. The _____ defines what covenant love looks like (Ex. 20–23). The Bible does not hesitate to join together law and _____ (John 14:15; Rom. 13:10; etc.).

6. The Tabernacle is constructed (Ex. 25–31 and 35–40). Worship is _____ with God; living with the Holy One (25:8; 40:34).
  7. Adultery is grounds for _____ (Ex. 32–34).
- B. What the covenant at Sinai teaches us about marriage.
1. _____ love. God pursued Israel when she was a slave in Egypt. From among all the nations of the earth, he chose his bride. Thus we see the origin of the knight in shining armor on a white horse pursuing his beloved. Husbands are to love their wives as Christ loved the church. _____ for men has been a challenge ever since the Fall.
  2. _____ love. Though Israel was chosen, she had a choice. She could refuse the advances of her lover. In worshipping the golden calf (Ex. 32), she did! Wives are to _____ to their husbands as to the Lord. The Fall made this very challenging!
  3. _____ love. The covenant at Sinai is not a contract between business partners, a treaty between nations, or even a social arrangement between families. It is a love story! Israel is God’s “_____.” Song of Songs is a vivid illustration.
  4. The importance of _____. A covenant is composed of solemn promises (Eccl. 5:4–7) that are _____ (“forsaking all others”), _____ (“for better, for worse”) and _____ (“till death do us part”). If the vows are broken, then divorce becomes a real possibility (Ex. 32:7–10, 19, 30; Jer. 3:6–10).
  5. The _____ of love (law). Weddings have always included legal demands. So at Sinai, the covenant was the occasion for the giving of the law. These laws simply state what is expected in the relationship. “If you love me, you will keep my commandments” (John 14:15).
  6. A _____ fitting the occasion. Making a covenant is a Big Deal! This is not a casual affair but one that demands all the solemn dignity we can give it. It is also a time of great joy. Thus it should include food, music, symbols, ceremony, awe, etc.

Note: It is remarkable that nearly all of these elements of covenant making are expressed in our understanding of traditional marriage in the West (the age of chivalry, Victorian love, the wedding ceremony in The Book of Common Prayer, etc.).

QUESTIONS FOR DISCUSSION

1. How do you account for the fact that our American culture no longer knows how to define marriage?
2. What struck you most about Plato’s description of love and marriage?
3. How is marriage different from animal mating?
4. What does marriage have to do with the Trinity?
5. Before this lesson, had you ever understood the events at Mt. Sinai as a wedding?
6. Think of how weddings are practiced today. How are they similar to the covenant at Sinai? How are they different?
7. How do law and love go together?
8. Why did God wait until after the covenant was established to “move in” with Israel? Does this have anything to say today to couples who want to live together before they say their vows?

Next week, we will look at two other weddings in the Bible:

- Cana: Glimpse of Glory (John 2:1–11)
- The Wedding of the Lamb: Happily, Ever After (Revelation 19–22)
